JAY'S CLOSE CALL.

District-Attorney Martine Almost Persuaded to Order His Arrest.

After a Conference With Gould's Attorney the Case is Dropped.

An Interesting Scene in the District Attorney's Office—Lawyer Goodwin Arranges a Compromise by Which Mr. Gould Is Permitted to Sail To-Day for Europe—A Long Talk With the Railroad Magnate—His Trip Abroad—The Present Condition of Financial and Railroad Affairs—Something About Telegraph and Cable Lines.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, October 29.—The matter of the criminal complaint against Jay Gould is before the Grand-Jury before District-Attorney Martine at the request of Mr. Gould. The lawyer, who is the attorney for the Kan.

as Pacific Trust bondholders, in his efforts to recover the Denver Pacific stock, assumed a rather serious aspect yesterday, and threatened to interfere with Mr. Gould's pro posed departure for Europe to-day. Lawyer

Almon Goodwin, counsel for Jay Gould, yes terday visited the District-Attorney's office and tried to convince Mr. Martine that this was no cause for criminal action in the complaint, and earnestly requested that no steps be taken to prevent Mr. Gould's departure to Europe to-day, promising to return later with affidavits supporting the ground he had taken.

"This case would have been settled now if

Mr. De Laury had not written to me with drawing the complaint," said Mr. Martine.

"Still I may be able to finish its consideration

by Monday or Tuesday."

"But Mr. Gould sails to-morrow on the Umbria," urged Mr. Goodwin.

"He expects to," corrected Mr. Martine sighificantly.

"The Grand-jury is not in session to-morrow," Mr. Goodwin suggested.

"No, but this court is always open, and our judges have all the necessary power, but we between us and the older ones," said Mr.

Goodwin.

"But this program may either be abridged or extended, as circumstances may dictate."

"I want to see new places and secure far as possible entire immunity from business noises. No, the present is not my first trip to Europe. I went over there in 1879 and traveled a good deal over England, France and Germany."

"Well, Mr. Gould, how do you think the stock market is going to behave itself while you are away? Is this small-sized bull demonstration of the last week a starter, or is it simply a spurt?"

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK.

"I do not know," said Mr. Gould, smiling.

"I scarcely know now that there will be much of a bull market to amount to anything before the first of the year. People make up their accounts then, pay their bills and ascertain new rates. Then, Mr. Martine said to the POST-DISPATCH reporter who was waiting to learn his final decision:

"We have looked into this case and Mr.

Gould is going to Europe to-morrow, as he has arranged. We have so far examined the case as to have very grave doubts as to whether any accusation at this time would lie. We think the statutory time in this case began to run way back in 1879 or 1880. The only word in the statutes which leaves a doubt is the word 'withholding' as trustee is amenable.

In other words the complainants undertake to claim that the word 'withholding'

is the point in the accusation, and that it never came out—that it was outlawed that the statute of limitations had run against it."

"We are not of that view," continued Mr.

Martine. "We find one United States Supreme case and some others that hold otherwise, but not in the Court of Appeals. We find one case in the Court of Appeals in the same line. We are inclined to think that there is no sufficient reason showing for us to proceed with the case at this time. We have introduced a new and interesting element in the situation down in Wall street, a situation which, by the way, has many novel features and has been changing continually during the past year."

"How about money?"

"Money is very easy now, and the chief reason for it is that these absolute investments

which I speak of have been made in the dividend-paying stocks, and these investments,

it is interesting to note rental lines now, and the Canadian Pacific is certainly rather an auxiliary factor in the situation. The attack on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas property the other day was wholly unjustified, and cannot have been for the money which is in the treasury now to pay all its approaching interest charges. The low bid of $1,000,000 is due to the Atchison people and the St. Louis & San Francisco Company paralleling some of the M. & K. & T.'s lines by building through the Indian Territory.

LAND SPECULATION.

"If you followed the land speculation in the West with any degree of attention, Mr. Gould?"

"Oh, yes, but it does not amount to a great deal. It is a fact that the great part of the land speculation is on local credit. If there should be any collapse of the market it would be very limited. The figures which I have seen indicate that the amount of land held, located at some of the booming real estate centers, look rather startling but the figures are not reliable. The land is held and which the owners have never handled. It is easy enough to mark up prices so long as the owners do not sell. When there is no market there is no use in holding it. What is, is some notion of what the real advance in prices in Western realty may be reached. I have seen figures which indicate that the West recently, saw a little in St. Louis, where property has been having a very safe and gradual rise for some time past. The West is a very safe investment."

The representative of the Post-DISPATCH at this point said to Mr. Gould, "What would you have him do if he talked about every matter in his line which was of public interest? He said that at all events he would not do that. He would not do that. Then the Post-DISPATCH man wished the financier bon voyage and withdrew.

ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

Arrest of Nicholas Bohn, a Well-known Local Politician.

Nicholas Bohn, a well-known Democratic politician, was arrested in the Fourth District this morning and locked up on a charge of embezzlement. For the last four years he has been employed as a salesman and collector by William Walkers & Co., the well-known soap manufacturers of Second street and Grand avenue, North St. Louis. Recently he first learned that he was import in his accounts. They were on present account to him, and he had to go to the bank to one of his customers to get the money he had embezzled. It is said that Bohn admitted it and signed his downfall to drink. He belongs to a good family, and it was thought that they would make good his shortage, and that the matter would be settled to-day. This is not the case. John S. Gleason, a member of the firm of Walker & Co., called on Officer Gleason to arrest Bohn. The latter was taken to the Fourth District and locked up. He was afterward removed to the Four Courts, where he was placed in custody. He was led to an investigation and they found that he collected $3,000 for the soap company and that a large fund could be placed in the hands of committee to bring the National Convention here.

One of the largest contributors to the fund were obtained this morning.

CONTRIBUTORS TALK.

PROPER DISPOSITION OF THE G. A. E. ENTERTAINMENT FUND SURPLUS.

A Large Majority in Favor of Devoting It to Entertaining Other Guests of the City—San Francisco Working for the Democratic Convention—A Warning to the Citizens' Committees.

The disposition of the surplus in the hands of the Grand Army Entertainment Committee is a subject in which every contributor is interested. The proposition of the Post-DISPATCH that the fund be turned over to the entertainment of the National political conventions meets with favor everywhere, and the members of the committee, in so far as they will express opinions, have been in the main favorable to that disposition of the surplus. The money was contributed by business men for a business purpose. The plea was continually that the Encampment would attract thousands of strangers to the city, and their money would be the means of repaying the contributors. The fund recently, saw a little in St. Louis, where property has been having a very safe and gradual rise for some time past.

The representative of the Post-DISPATCH at this point said to Mr. Gould, "What would you have him do if he talked about every matter in his line which was of public interest? JAMES E. YEATMAN.

President of the Merchants' National Bank, which subscribed $100, stated that in his opinion the surplus money should be given to the charitable associations, and not to a division of the fund among the Grand Army posts to be applied to relieve sick and destitute veterans, but was unalterably opposed to giving any to partisan organizations.

He means it was thought that they would make good his shortage, and that the matter would be settled to-day. This is not the case.

President of the Merchants' Association, whose contribution amounted to $100, gave it as his opinion that the committee had no right to make any disposition of the fund, but that it should be turned over to the original subscribers pro rata.

He was entirely opposed to giving anything to any partisan organization, as the money had not been subscribed for any such purpose.

The indications for twenty-four hours commencing at 3 p.m. to-day for Missouri are: Slightly cooler, followed by warmer, fair weather; light to fresh northerly winds.

TO-MORROW'S SUNDAY Post-DISPATCH
will be a good newspaper.

ST. LOUIS should prepare to receive both National Conventions next year.

The supposed prestige of "regularity" should count for nothing when bad men are nominated.

THE SUNDAY Post-DISPATCH publishes more specials from more points than any other paper in the city.

WE should like to have a new bridge or a good reason for not having it. At the same time, we would rather have a poor bridge than a good reason.

BEN BUTLER thinks that his foreign-born clients should be saved from the gallows in accordance with the alleged provisions of certain treaty stipulations. THE TIMES is the power of $250 a day.

WE are trying to bring both conventions to St. Louis and we are astonished to find that we have less trouble in working up a movement for the Republican Convention than for the Democratic Convention.

WE call attention to the card of President HOFFMAN of the Laclede Bank, correcting the statement in our issue of yesterday, in which the bank was mentioned as one of the creditors of NEWMAN & FARR. The bank was not among the creditors, its assets are undiminished by the failure and its prosperity is unimpaired.

OUR Republican fellow-citizens have organized promptly and gone to work vigorously to secure the Republican National Convention for St. Louis. Will our Democratic fellow-citizens permit themselves to be outdone in working for their city? A friendly competition between the two parties in this matter would probably bring us both conventions. If we get the first one called we are reasonably sure of getting both, as Chicago got both in 1884, and if the Democrats of St. Louis will go to work we shall get one anyhow.

BEFORE leaving for Europe Mr. GOULD has told the Post-DISPATCH reporter in New York very freely what he thinks about the railroad and telegraph situation and the general business outlook. Speaking of real estate booms in particular, he says they are local inflations of local credit and chiefly "represent wealth which has never existed and which the owners have never handled. Incidentally he remarks that he has seen buying real estate out West anywhere but in St. Louis, "where property has been having a very safe and gradual rise for some time past," and offers, in his opinion, "an exceedingly favorable investment." His little bout with GARRETT has left the poise of Mr. GOULD's business faculties in fine working order. There is no rumor abroad that he is losing his mind.

OUR NEWS SERVICE.

Some would-be critics of the SUNDAY Post-DISPATCH attempt to disparage the value of our exceptional and unrivaled telegraph service on the ground that it comes from New York.

There would be some value to this criticism if we received only New York news. But the readers of the SUNDAY Post-DISPATCH, the only critics we care for, know that we are duplicated for the WORLD. Many of them are transmitted over our special wire and reach us from New York, just as the Western Associated Press news reaches us from Chicago, where the service is made up.

As a matter of fact all the special dispatches and all the cable dispatches and other news of the SUNDAY WORLD are duplicated for our use, as our telegrams are duplicated for the WORLD. Many of them are transmitted over our special wire and reach us from New York, just as the Western Associated Press news reaches us from Chicago, where the service is made up.

The advantages of our arrangement for telegraphic news are, a saving in time, a great saving in expense, a saving in preparing and editing matter, and the more thorough covering of a larger area of territory.

When any of our esteemed contemporaries can enjoy these advantages their expenses will be smaller, their possibility of extending into new fields will be larger, and their Sunday morning papers will be greatly improved.

The Laclede Bank Not a Creditor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

DEAR SIR—In your issue of the 28th, under the heading, "Forty-Five Cents on the Dollar," you say: "The principal creditors are said to be the Merchants' National Bank, the Laclede Bank and the Commercial Bank."

For your better information I will state that neither the Noblara Castle Company, the firm of Newman & Farr nor Newman & Farr, individually or jointly, owes the Laclede Bank one cent. It is in no way interested either in the failure or settlement of the parties mentioned.

S. E. HOFFMAN,
President Laclede Bank.

How We Help Our Rivals.

From the Critic.

The projection of the Post-DISPATCH into the field of Sunday morning newspaper publication has aroused a great deal of interest among Sunday readers, and has stimulated the editors and proprietors of Sabbath-day journals to an unusual degree of energy and enterprise.

METROPOLITAN PRESS.

What the Editors of the New York Journals Are Saying This Morning.

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, October 29.—The WORLD says: "Appearances indicate that France is about to have another Premier—the seventeenth, if we are not mistaken, she will have had in less than as many years. The Ronvelier Ministry has been defeated in the Chamber of Deputies three times in succession recently, the last time on a vote to inquire into the Cafarelli scandal. As President Grey is still in office, he is compelled to resign, and he has no right to do so, unless he proves that he is in his right to do so, to prove the propositions. He admits that unless he proves them he will be open to grave charges. The general military opinion, so far as it can be frankly expressed, is on his side.

THE INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT QUESTION.

Commenting in the new Nineteenth Century on an article in the same number on the Anglo-American copyright, by Pearsall Smith, advocating the open system of copyright is injurious to the authors, publishers and readers, but the present is founded on the injustice of the international system of copyright, which is still maintained by another and greater. Bider Haggard says he thinks the proposed scheme of an author's stamp would be cordially accepted by English writers. He is opposed to a monopoly or copyright, and favors a royalty of 10 per cent on the publishing price. Lewis Morris thinks they might fairly ask 25 per cent; Matthew Arnold considers Smith's plan unfavorable to the British author; Huxley says protected copyright without free competition is false in principle.

CHAMBERLAIN.

The opinion on the choice of Chamberlain as Fishery Commissioner may be thus summarized: Salsbury, the worst possible Minister to negotiate a position of considerable importance, is still standing on his high-horse, although it is still thought that he will compromise matters by resigning also. The uncertainty of the situation is further augmented by the fact that no one can be pointed to as being a man who can form even a possible Ministry. If there is a break-up, now it will not be upon any question of national politics, but rather because of an indefinite condition of dissatisfaction with things in general.

THE SUN.

The Sun says: "Erlanger has been recently working at Boulogne in a very curious manner, and it would surprise no one alive to the present temper of the chamber and the French government to find Erlanger in the hands of the French Foreign Office, or in the hands of War Office by the man whom he has placed under arrest. Then the news from Moscow indicates that the foreign ministry will begin to be extremely interesting."

THE TRIBUNE.—The Tribune says: "Your dispatches from Washington confirm the impression given yesterday that there is little probability that the appeal to the United States Supreme Court in the case of the Chinese miners will be successful. That is the result which we believe most people have expected. The trial will be long and will be followed by a series of trials against the Chinese miners, which will be held in the United States. In the first volume Grant Allen will write on Americanism and anthropology.

Addington Symonds is reported to have undertaken a life of Edgar Poe for publication in a popular series.

Dr. Challis' Scandinavian researches, under title of "The Viking Age," will be published by Murray in two volumes over one thousand woodcuts.

Wyman will publish a volume called "Peret," by Guillame, Peruvian Consul General at Southampton, describing the gold and silver mines of that country.

THE GODDESSES OF LIBERTY.

First Annual Celebration by a Grand Banquet in Paris.

Special Cablegram to the Post-DISPATCH.

PARIS, October 29.—A banquet was given last night in the great dining hall of the Continental Hotel, for the purpose of commemorating the inauguration of the Statue of Liberty to the nations. The dinner was a success, and the speeches were favorable and gratifying. He hoped the American question would retain its local character, and that it would ultimately be settled by another and greater.

LITERARY.

Rider Haggard says he has two new serials nearly complete.

The new edition of Chambers' Encyclopedia is being edited by David Patrick, who has been engaged in revising the work since 1877. Special attention has been paid to the condition of Europe continued to be one of insecurity, the belief was justified that the active efforts and the close rapprochement of the Powers, who were working to maintain peace, would prevent its disturbance.
